Lapeer Regional Medical Center has officially opened the new Lapeer Regional Wound Care Center on its campus, bringing exceptional wound care closer to you. While most wounds heal through a natural process, not all do. And a wound that doesn't heal properly can put you at risk for infection or more serious complications.

Our multidisciplinary team of wound care experts includes physicians who have served Lapeer County residents for many years. With experience healing all types of wounds, this team makes sure you receive the care you need by using a clinical, evidence-based approach and the very latest techniques. If your wound needs a healing hand, ask your doctor about the Lapeer Regional Wound Care Center.
